IRC- REPLY COUPONS INTRODUCTION

The Universal Postal Union (UPU) located in Berne, Switzerland, began issuing International Reply Coupons (IRCs) in 1907 to facilitate letter- communication between nations. IRCs are printed by the UPU (or a UPU-contracted printer) and distributed to all member nations of the UPU. Various design motifs – named for the city in which the UPU international conference adopted the design - have been introduced. Until 2001, IRCs had no expiration. Starting 1 July 2006, a new IRC design will be issued every 3 years, on 1 July. Each new IRC design will have an expiration date of 31 December, three years after the year issued. The expiration date appears at the bottom of the reverse side, in the International Standards Organization (ISO) standard date-format: Year. Month. Day.- ie 2006.12.31.

The UPU prints several forms used by postal agencies around the world. The IRC form number CN 22 (printed at the top right of IRCs) was used from 1930 – 2001.

From 2001, form numbers were changed to CN01. The official language of the UPU is French, which appears on the front of all UPU forms. From 1930-1974, the obverse of IRCs were in French and the national language of the country of issue.

From 1971-74, the front of Israeli IRCs also included text in French, Hebrew and Arabic.

Starting in 2002, the front of the IRC is in French only; the name of the country of issue is printed in the French spelling, i.e. Israël. The postmark of the issuing post office is to be placed in a box at the lower left. Within that box is the 2-letter International Standards Organization abbreviation of the country. IL for Israel.

The size of the IRC also increased with the new design of 2002 (see table).

Below the obverse design is a 1.6cm blank area; this provides a space for countries to add a bar-code, if desired, to allow computer scanning of IRC prices, to assist at postal-counter sale.

The reverse of the IRC has its postal function written in several languages. As of 2002, the reverse-side text is in German, English, Arabic, Chinese, Spanish, as well as Russian. Although the Universal Postal Union defined the First Day of Use for the Beijing Model 2 (as 1 July 2006) and Nairobi design (as 1 July 2009), many postal agencies around the world did NOT have supplies of the new designs available on those dates. e-mail discussions with the philatelic section of the Israel Postal Authority confirmed this for 2006 and 2009. Inquiries at a few Israel Post Offices affirmed this lack of availability. Earliest use postmarks for the 2006 and 2009 IRC design will thus be sought.

Postal agencies may opt to have the UPU imprint a sales price on the IRC or not. The latter allows the fee to be determined by prevailing post office rates, without any overprinting. When an initial sales-price is imprinted on the IRCs, a country's post office will often overprint new valuations, as needed. This provides a ready assessment of changing postal fees for IRCs, as noted in the catalog listings below. Starting in 1985, Israel's IRCs no longer carried any designation of post office sales price.
